Did you ever stop to think that you should get an EMPIRE CREAM SEPARATOR and get all the cream and have the sweet milk to feed the calves. Did you ever stop to think that you would pay for a Cream Separator that a good cream Separator would pay for itself out of the increased profits.

We are willing to prove these statements by letting you use an EMPIRE CREAM SEPARATOR till you are satisfied that you can not afford to be without it and then you can arrange the payments so that the Cream Separator saves the amount of the

Another piece of machinery that is very necessary on any up-to-date farm is a JOHN DEERE LOW DOWN SPREADER, with the beater on the axle. No chains, no clutches, no adjustments. Roller bearings. For improving the soil and insuring big crops it is an absolute necessity.

Another time I will mention the different makes of engines that we handle, windmills, fanning mills, etc., but space will not permit at this time.

By Mary Roberts Rinehart

I ate a light lunch at Bellwood house, with Lucia to look after me. Oh, hello, I called as she was going. I want to ask you something about the night at the Fleming house when you and I watched the house. Didn't you remember a person coming along this hall outside your door about 2 o'clock, I think?

That's strange. And you didn't hear me when I left 'tween the dumb water closet and the stair door?

Holy saints! she ejaculated. Was that where you fell?

The stopped incredulously. "You heard that? I asked gently, and yet you don't know it?"

There's a little somewhere. You did not stop that night at all, did you? Miss Fleming I had been up all night. How did you know that?

That's what you could possibly get around as fast as the person in the house that night? Miss Fleming's key looking for—let us say, perhaps, in what door I have another cup of coffee?

She turned a pinkish yellow and gathered up my hat and coat with trembling hands. I put another tin in my notebook. What does Bella know?

I got back to the city and found Wardrop waiting for me at the office. He seemed to have shrunk in the clothes. His eyes were all red. He was drinking and his fair hair had dropped, sagged, and fallen. He looked at me with dull eyes then went in. He was sitting on my desk.

He says he's crazy—lost his mind, said Burton.

I did not know you knew each other, I said.

He says he was Wardrop all year. He says he used to knock me around at college. I'm sure I did not. Better see one, Wardrop, I urged.

It seemed incredible. He said that moment man would collapse as he had done and yet at the same time he said a dozen men who, under the lead of public disapproval, have fallen into parents, insanity and death. We are all indifferent to our fellow men until they are again in the street.

Barton was very well acquainted with the specialist in the street. He said I think I've got it all from Mr. Burton. I said the doctor when he had sent Wardrop into another room. The idea in his mind was to get me out of the room. I'll give him a short mental examination and then I'll ring the bell out of my own mouth. He is a newspaper man, Mr. Burton?

An attorney, I said.

Free man, lawyer or doctor, Burton broke in, we all suffer on the other fellow's troubles, don't we?

We don't suffer very much, I corrected. We live.

The doctor blinked behind his glasses.

I never saw a lawyer yet who would admit he was making money, he said.

The physical examination was over. When I was called to Wardrop was standing at the window looking down into the street below. He had written at his desk. He had written at his desk.

VERTICAL CLOCK DIAL

Many Advantages Claimed for New Timepiece Which has Simple Construction.

The vertical clock dial, which has just appeared, is the first improvement in clock faces since the invention of the circular two-faced clock over 150 years ago. The dial is a long narrow strip with six hours, divided into five-minute sections on each side. A single hand travels down one side and up the other, and the two hands travel a day and pointing out the hours and minutes of the day.

The clock dial is a long narrow strip of the vertical dial is that the one hand, while telling the time, may also indicate the number in a calendar, program, or time-table, arranged in the space above the dial. The hand is moved along by a sprocket chain passing over the minute wheel of an ordinary clockwork at the lower end and a loose wheel at the upper end.

Latest System in Child's Education

The system is efficient—the new kind of kindergarten in its experience, is being widely used by the nation's educators.

The school of childhood is a part of the university of Pittsburgh, and the teacher graduates of the school of education in America in recent years.

The children are from four to seven years of age. The equipment for play is wonderful: there are blocks large enough for the children to build little houses, so that they can learn to build and play with a great show of realism.

The school of childhood is an outgrowth of the playgroup movement, which has attained such large proportions in America in recent years, and it combines the best features of the playgroup and the kindergarten.

The children follow a daily program that is designed to build up the foundations of the developing body and mind as they mature themselves.

There are several play periods during the session, which begins at nine o'clock in the morning and ends at noon. Instead of the usual song and story, the children are taught to sing and dance and to play with a great show of realism.

UNIQUE FARM TRACTOR

Old Principle Applied in Construction of Handy Implement

A gasoline farm tractor which works on the principle of a squirrel cage has been invented, and tried out by a noted farmer. It consists mainly of a wheel, its axle, its frame, and its engine.

A recent 20-hp. model, which runs along the ground propelled by a 12-hp. horse engine inside. The motor is mounted on four wheels fitted with tires and a clutch, like a typical automobile, and propels the large wheel by continually turning it.

The surface of the wheel like a squirrel in a cage. The tractor works on the principle of a squirrel cage, and can be driven between rows, up hills, and around sharp corners; but it can also be geared higher to draw a wagon or buggy on the road. Mounted on a heavy four-wheel chassis, it can be used as a tractor or as a tractor.

The tractor is a 24-hp. model, which runs along the ground propelled by a 12-hp. horse engine inside. The motor is mounted on four wheels fitted with tires and a clutch, like a typical automobile, and propels the large wheel by continually turning it.

Preparing Land for Grain Crops

In view of the fact that every year brings to the Northwest many new settlers who are unacquainted with the methods of breaking and preparing land for crop, and that the success or failure of a new settler often depends on the method employed in the preparation of the land for the first crop, there has been issued by the direction of the Honorable Minister of Agriculture, a bulletin on preparing land for grain on the prairie. This pamphlet of 24 pages, containing many illustrations, was compiled by Mr. J. B. Grisdale, Director of the Experimental Farms. It presents a summary of many years of careful study of prairie problems, by Mr. Angus Mackay, who for twenty years was Superintendent of the Experimental farm for south-eastern Saskatchewan, at Indian Head.

Some valuable points are also given as to the breaking and later treatment of new land by the Superintendent of the Experimental stations at Scott, Saskatchewan, Lebriidge and Lacombe, Alberta, and Brandon, Manitoba.

This bulletin, No. 15 of the Second Series of Experimental Farm, is of interest to the settler and to the farmer, and is available on receipt of application, a copy will be mailed by the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Waste on Farms

A Wisconsin farmer presents to the public an explanation of the waste on farms, which is interesting and not without importance. In his country, nearly every farmer does other farming. For instance, practically every farmer has a small orchard yielding him more fruit than he can use himself. So the farmer does not care for the surplus is not sufficient to pay for shipping.

Waste on farms is a serious problem. It is a waste of time, money, and effort. It is a waste of the land and the labor of the farmer. It is a waste of the resources of the country.

Makes Noise When You Eat

Cultured people do not make a noise when they eat. This is all well and good in an aesthetic way and had in a manifestation of good taste. It is the eating of a healthy diet that makes the most of a good table and the fine of eating.

It is natural to make a noise when you eat. Try it some time when you are in private and see how much noise you can make. It is a natural thing to do. It is a natural thing to do. It is a natural thing to do.

Higher Voltages

A general tendency toward higher voltages in electric transmission plants is apparent. One plant for instance, is sending current from Big Creek, Cal., to Los Angeles, 140 miles at an initial pressure of 15,000 volts. To be carried 150 miles at the rate demanded. Keokuk's plant is registered at 10,000 volts.

A BRONCHIAL COUGH

is wearing and dangerous because the inflamed, mucus-filled tubes interfere with breathing and the fresh air passes through that mucus-filled tissue.

Probably no other remedy so quick and permanent relief as Scott's Emulsion; it checks the cough, heals the lining of the throat and bronchial tubes, and keeps the lungs free from mucus. This point cannot be emphasized too strongly—that Scott's Emulsion has been suppressing bronchitis for forty years and will help you.

The April meeting of the Y.W.C.T.U. was held in the Methodist Church last Thursday evening. The programme was in charge of Miss Louise Wernig, supt. of the Systematic Giving Department, and Miss Alma Lockren, supt. of the Musical Department. Rev. F. E. Clydale's address on "Tithing" was the most important feature on the program and was much appreciated. The program consisted of readings, recitations and musical selections of high order.

The "Y" will hold its next meeting in the Church, Thursday afternoon, May 7th. This is "Mother's Day." The afternoon program will be on subjects that are especially interesting to mothers. A special invitation is extended to all ladies to be present. We want to see the mother's from the country come in and spend the afternoon with the "Y." The Literary Department of the "Y" will hold its next meeting Tuesday evening, May 19th.

Communication

Jenner, Alberta,
March 24th, 1914.
Editor, Carlstadt News.

Dear Sir,

It has been rumored through-out this district by certain irresponsible parties that my predecessor, W. H. Turner, while acting Secretary-Treasurer of this Union, misappropriated to his own use the funds of this Association.

As his successor, and as auditor of his accounts, I can testify that there was not the slightest evidence of any such irregularity, the accounts being correct, and all monies on hand.

Be it known to all that it is the unanimous expression of this Local that emphatic denial, on behalf of Mr. Turner and the district, be made against all such charges; that we, to a man, denounce all such statements as false, malicious and mischievous making, and that Mr. Turner has had and still has, our entire confidence.

Signed on behalf of the River Bend Local U.F.A., 388.

H. O. KLINCK,
Secretary-Treasurer.

For several years Carlstadt has felt that this district has not received its fair share of moisture. The annual rainfall has been less than is considered necessary to ensure good crops. So far, the year 1914 gives promise of giving far better results than have its predecessors. The winter was exceptionally mild, although there was a greater snowfall in this locality than the average. There were signs of an early spring, but the cold snap during the last week in March retarded farming operations and proved a blessing, for an early spring often means too advanced and useless growth of the crops. Lots of rain during the next two months will raise bumper crops and will fill the pockets of the farmer. Wise methods of cultivation, plowing deep and conserving the moisture will mean a great deal to the ultimate success of this district. But at present there are signs that this year is to be the best Carlstadt ever had. The precipitation of the past few weeks, if continued and followed by warm summer days will mean dollars to every man in the district.

This is the time to clean up. The flies are already making their appearance and if all refuse is not kept down, will multiply with their accustomed rapidity, spreading disease through every home in town.

We knew they would have to confess. Carlstadt has a gas well, but doesn't make a proper use of it. All along, Brooks has been keeping up a fiction that they do better than that. Now the Bulletin gives it up and bewails the fact that while they have two gas wells, the town isn't using them. Furthermore these poor people go out on dark nights and fall in puddles. Two gas wells and all in darkness. A lake and no water in it.

Now is the time to get the town cleaned up. Other towns are taking steps to clear away all refuse. Carlstadt must do likewise. The town must be kept clean. Council will meet Tuesday evening, when this question will be raised.

Polona is losing two sets of chaps this week; the white to the West and the black to the North. All of you left in the winter.

We take this opportunity of expressing our regret for the poor hungry Perlees "stagers" who attended our dance with anticipation of a big time, for half starved folks. Some of these people left immediately after supper without contributing to the collection. In our minds people of this calibre should have no kick coming. We are glad, however, that at not all of the Perlees people acted in this way; and we cast no reflections on these, including the regular correspondent.

Yours with regret,

Polona Boys.

Thomson Monahan hasn't a pair of chaps; nevertheless he climbed his so called saddle horse. He emerged from the scene with a lame hip. At all we are happy to say he got no walk with the aid of his stick in torn stick and neck yoke.

A very interesting case was heard in Suffield on Saturday before W. H. R. Iles, J.P. and Inspector Shoebottom, R.N.W.M.P., the charge being against a man named L. C. Jensen, for cruelty to animals. The evidence was that he did, on the 24th day of March, cruelly ill-treat a cow belonging to Wm. Alfred Pratt, by striking it over the head with a spade. Evidence was given by Wm. Bishop, Alfred Pratt and J. McDonald. Constable Thompson represented the prosecution, giving evidence as to how he had inspected this animal the previous day and found wounds on head and flanks, substantiating the evidence given by previous witnesses. Accident at G. Washington

Billy Unburied His Guilty Conscience

By LILLIE WENTZ

"Tomorrow's a holiday, Aunt Molly," began Billy, poring himself into the arms of her chair.

"Isn't that you?" returned Molly, as she turned his curly hair.

"Washington's birthday, isn't it?"

"What are you going to do, dear?"

"That's for you to say," replied Billy, glancing at his watch.

"Will you come over to the lake and skate with me, Aunt Molly?"

"On dear," cried Molly regretfully, and then Billy knew that Aunt Molly had asserted his rights as Molly's grandchild.

"But I don't want to go," said Billy, who it would be to skate with the handsome Ned and not with her old-fashioned mother.

"So sorry, Billy," faltered Molly at last. "You can come with me."

Billy shook his head, and slipped down from the chair.

"Your company and three new ones," said Molly, as she went away.

"Four little Billy" said Molly as she went away, and then Molly's eyes.

The tears soon cleared away, but the smile remained, for Molly was as good as her word.

She was going to take her out along the boulevard for a spin in his new car.

The smile of Aunt Molly was the first of the season would make the driving time.

Billy slipped away to the mirror and tried on the new fur motor boots.

He had not yet put them on, but he knew he was wearing them.

His eyes were fixed on the mirror, and he was looking at his new boots.

He was looking at his new boots, and he was looking at his new boots.

He was looking at his new boots, and he was looking at his new boots.

went slowly up the stairs to her own room. If she shed tears over Ned's death, she would not know it, for she was so busy in her own mind.

"When the dinner bell rang," she thought, "I will go to the hall."

"I wonder what it is for anything," Billy said enthusiastically. "Certainly not with that dream of a gown."

"That peach colored dress is the prettiest you ever had, Molly," put in Ned.

Molly flashed a smile at her brother-in-law, and then she returned the compliment by saying that the suit she was now wearing was becoming to her.

There was some gay chatter over the costumes for the dinner, and then the guests were seated at the table.

"Nonsense!" laughed Molly, blushing. "Billy, sleep and come over, suitably."

"I'll be there, Molly," said Billy, as he came to the bed in all the glory of his new boots.

"I don't want to go," said Billy, who it would be to skate with the handsome Ned and not with her old-fashioned mother.

"So sorry, Billy," faltered Molly at last. "You can come with me."

BOY HILL OF FANTASY

MEMORITIES HOME HAS LONG BEEN FAMOUS RESORT.

Since Jane Austen's "Emma's" Pensive Parties at an Innkeeper's Most Modern House, the story of the Boy Hill of Fantasy has been a popular amusement—its Box Trees Are Famous Throughout the Country.

One would think when Box Hill first became a favored spot for pleasure parties, we associate so much of it with the story of the Boy Hill of Fantasy, that it is natural to imagine that it must have been the first to popularize it, says Arthur Henry Anderson in "The London Chronicle."

But, early records show that our eleventh century ancestors were in the habit of going to Box Hill in 1149, and that part of the London, Brighton and South Coast Railway line was only completed in 1871.

Seed Potatoes!

I have some extra fine Potatoes for Seed. The Potatoes were grown by Seed Growers in New Brunswick and are the best obtainable, being true to type. For the last five years the IRISH COBBLER has been the largest yielder at the Experimental Farm at Lethbridge. It is described as follows:

IRISH COBBLER.

The Irish Cobbler Potato is fine looking, with flesh and skin pure white, being nearly round in shape, eyes slightly indented, bright, clean, white stock. The tubers are very hardy, and will keep well until spring, it is just as early as the Early Ohio, and a far better yielder. Its chief merits are ripening qualities, enormous productivity and a strong vigorous growth. It cannot be surpassed as a table potato.

THE DELAWARE.

The Delawares or Green Mountain Potato stands the highest on New York and Boston markets as table Potato and long keepers. The tubers are roundish oblong, smooth, with very shallow eyes, skin and flesh perfectly white. They are a medium early potato, and from the time they are large enough to use, they are the same floury, white, dry, sweet, nutritious article, and are the crowning glory of every dinner table. This is the ideal variety, equal to any emergency for everyday use.

Call at GREAT WEST HOTEL for all particulars.

Local and General

This week W. G. Scollard has secured the agency for the Ford automobile. He has exclusive rights over a territory extending from Redcliff to Brooks. It is expected that, next year, there may be only two agencies between Calgary and Medicine Hat, of which Carlstadt will be one. This will mean a lot to this town. Mr. Scollard has already made one sale, Dr. McEwen now being the owner of a Ford car.

A market day sale at Carlstadt was held on Tuesday afternoon by L. Dorsey, of Suffield. Good prices were realized, although the attendance was small, this sale not having been advertised to any extent.

The opening baseball match of the season took place Saturday, April, on the grounds of the Brutus Club between teams representing Brutus and Springfield. A very clean and interesting game was played. Although several errors took place on both sides and the players all needed more practice, some good play was seen. The game was won by Springfield, after a hard struggle, by one run. The score by innings was:

Springhill, 3, 1, 2, 2, 1, 2, 0, 0-13
Brutus, 1, 3, 8, 2, 2, 0, 1, 0-12

No need to argue with the umpire Jack. When he says "My dear friend you're out," then out you go.
